RABUN GAP-NACOOCHEE SCHOOL

Anthony Sgro, Ed. D., Head of School

Cheryl Barber, Director of College Counseling • Jennifer Jones, College Counselor

Academic Program

The school's academic program offers a rigorous, traditional liberal arts curriculum centered on critical thinking and problem solving skills. Classroom instruction is complemented by extensive opportunities for experiential learning in laboratories, studios for music, art, and dance, directed and independent research, and through a wide array of cultural activities on and off campus.

College Counseling Program

The college counseling team is committed to extensive professional development through continuing education degrees, NACAC, SACAC, ACCIS, and NAIS membership with full participation in their programs and conferences, individual university relationships and maintenance of current college and university admission requirements.

College counselors begin working with students in the ninth grade through freshmen English courses. Students are introduced to the Naviance college program, a personalized account for each student that is used throughout all four years of high school. The Naviance program contains programs such as career and personality assessments, interest profilers and a Learning Inventory test. This program also introduces a four-year academic outline, a resume building program, individual PSAT/SAT/ACT study plans, college and scholarship search tools, and various tracking and building resources in conjunction with our program and the goals of college/university success.

College counselors meet individually with all tenth-, eleventh-, and twelfth-graders to design and modify college goals and their academic schedule. On-site resources for assistance in mastery of academic subjects and testing are offered in various areas, including weeklong standardized test prep workshops, integrated classroom support, a learning center with advanced faculty support, journaling and essay writing workshops/programs, as well as a host of other in-house guidance tools.

Required weekly college counseling classes are held during the fall and spring term for juniors and seniors. Students are led through the college application process, offered informational sessions hosted by prominent admission representatives, partake in essay writing workshops, are offered the opportunity to meet with over 50 university and college admission representatives during on-site visits, and attend multiple college fairs within Georgia and North Carolina. The counselors will provide individual letters of recommendations for all seniors and personalized assistance in the completion of the college applications, as well as networking on behalf of the student.

Standardized testing is a major component of the admission review process and the college counseling department offers advice, guidance, and on-site testing to best prepare our students for maximum achievement in this area.
